

Victims of Crime

This section contains detailed information relating to victims of offences against the person. They do not provide a unique victim count as one person may be counted several times if they were the victim of more than one offence.

There are several cases where the victim of an offence against the person is not, according to the statistical definitions used, a person. For example, the victim of an armed robbery of a bank is the banking organisation, rather than the teller, while ‘armed so as to cause fear or alarm’ is commonly a “Regina” offence, where the Crown is deemed to be the victim. Organisations which were the victims of crime were not included in the following tables and graphs.

As the graph below illustrates, females aged fifteen to nineteen years are the most common victims of offences against the person on a per capita basis. Females aged fifty-five and over are the least likely to be a victim of offences against the person. During 2014/15, there were slightly more male than female victims. Fifty-one percent of victims were male, while forty-nine percent of victims were female.

The Australian Bureau of Statistics’ Population by Age and Sex, Australian States and Territories, December 2014 (3201.0) was used to calculate the number of victims per 100,000 persons. ‘Age’ refers to the victim’s age on the date the offence was reported to police, rather than their age on the date the offence occurred.

* Only those offences where the victim’s age and sex were identified are included.

Victims of Crime

Low rates of victimisation for homicide (murder) offences mean that rates fluctuate across age groups and from year to year. In 2014/15, females aged twenty-five to twenty-nine years were most likely to be victims of homicide (murder). Overall, 62% of victims were male and 23% of all victims were aged twenty-five to twenty-nine years.

Other homicide offences are also subject to fluctuations across age groups and from year to year as a result of low rates of victimisation. Males aged forty-five to forty-nine were most likely to be victims. Overall, 66% of victims were male. Of all female victims, those aged twenty-five to twenty-nine years were most likely to be victims of other homicide.

* Only those offences where the victim's age and sex were identified are included.

Victims of Crime

For every age cohort except fifteen to nineteen years, males were more likely to be victims of assault than females (58% of victims were male). Males aged twenty-five to twenty-nine years were most likely to be victims. The rate of females assaulted aged fifteen to nineteen years was higher than any other age group. The likelihood of being a victim of assault decreased with increasing age after nineteen years for females and twenty-nine for males.

The offence category of sexual offences is unique in that the number of female victims far outweighs the number of male victims (82% of victims were female). At every age, females were significantly more likely to be victims than males with females in the ten to nineteen years age range, the most likely. In fact, at this age females were almost six times more likely to be victims of sexual offences than males.

* Only those offences where the victim's age and sex were identified are included.

Victims of Crime

As with most other offences against the person, males were significantly more likely to be victims of robbery than females (68% of victims were male). Males aged fifteen to twenty-four years were most likely to be victims. After the age of twenty-four years, for both males and females, the likelihood of being a victim decreased significantly with increasing age until aged forty-five to forty-nine for females and fifty-five and over for males. In these age groups there is a slight increase in robbery rates. Note that robbery is unique in that a large proportion of victims are companies not individuals.

Other offences against the person is an amalgam of a number of different offence types including ill treatment of children, stalking, armed to cause fear, etc. This offence category, like sexual offences, is unique in that females are more likely to be victims than males. Females aged fifteen to twenty-nine years are the most likely victims of this offence type, making up 19% of total victims.

* Only those offences where the victim's age and sex were identified are included.
