Narrative:

On 13/11/2021, Forensic Officer 4013990 GRAHAM - BUN CR NCA SOC conducted a forensic examination at [Sch4p4(6)] KEVIN LIVINGSTON DR ISIS CENTRAL 4660. Forensic Register Number FR2076462 refers.

Attended incident address and took up with scene guard Senior Constable Sam McNABB.

INFORMATION : The incident address is a business which produces sustainable natural plant extracts such as mineral turpentine. The business operates and is manned 24 hrs a day 7 days a week. The region has been suffering storms over the past week with another storm passed through the area on the evening of the 12/11/21. An apparent lightning strike has hit the factory causing electrical disturbance. As a result of the electrical disturbance, an electrician was called in to restore adequate power to the factory. The workers were in the enclosed control room which is located inside a large galvanised shed (north/west corner). Upon attempting to rectify the power issue, a large explosion has occurred and is believed to have come from a large extractor tank located on the western side of the shed. The extractor is said to produce the mineral turpentine and rosin from pine chips. The extractor was in full operation at the time of the explosion. One worker is said to have sustained significant injuries whilst the other three have minimal injuries.

OBSERVATIONS : Observed the business to be located in a rural setting and located directly off the roadway and approximately 5kms from the township of Cordalba. The business is fenced with a visitor carpark located to the east of the plant. Observed the plant to consist of a large galvanised shed with a roller door on the eastern side and single access doors on the north, west and south side. Observed damage to the roof of the shed predominately towards the western side which appears structurally unsound. Inside the shed consisted of several enclosed rooms which appear to be utilised as a bathroom, meal room and a laboratory. Observed the eastern half of the shed undamaged by fire. Observed significant fire damage to the western half of the shed predominately on the north western side which housed the control room. Observed all items and equipment within the control room destroyed by fire. The laboratory located in the south west corner to have damage to the external parts of the walls however the walls were still in an upright position. Observed partial damage to the roof inside the laboratory.

Observed the extractor tank located on the western side of the shed (outside). Observed the tank to be significantly damaged by fire with what appears to be the roof of the extractor on the ground beside the shed. Observed debris and insulation on the ground in the surround areas around the shed and tank.

Observed 4 x large LPG tanks located on the southern side of the shed. Nil damage observed to tanks.

Observed an electrical power box on the northern side of the shed with the main power switch in the off position.

EXAMINATION : Conducted a photographic examination of the scene externally and internally where safe to do so.
